HVAC REPLACEMENT AT CITY HALL — The Plattsmouth City Council approved the proposal from Professional Heating and Air Conditioning Inc. for the replacement of the city hall air handlers. The awarded bid totaled $83,200. This is a project that was budgeted for this year. According to information presented to the council, a compressor locked up on a northern HVAC unit last fall. Due to its age and type of freon it was unrepairable. The southern unit underwent approximately $4,500 in repairs last spring. The city building and zoning administrator, Adam Denio, expressed concern that the one remaining unit would burn out quickly. He also cited the age of the equipment with the roof top condensing units—they were installed in 2006—and the air handlers located in the attic were installed in 1975. The council was informed the contractor has two units in stock and ready to install with minimal preparation work needed for duct fabrication.

GENERATION EXPANSION planning continues – Omaha Public Power District is taking the next step to add more to the electric system. The plans include the Cass County Station on Mill Road. During an OPPD Board of Directors committee meeting, utility leaders shared plans to add more generation to one existing plant and one currently under construction. It is part of OPPD's strategy to add nearly 2.5 gigawatts of generation over the next decade to meet the growing energy usage of its more than 400,000 customers in 13 counties. OPPD's latest plans will add 900 MW of simple cycle natural gas generation with fuel oil backup. The district has selected Siemens Energy to provide the new assets, including four SGT6-5000F combustion turbines, capable of producing 225 MW each. Three would be built at OPPD's existing Cass County Station and one at its new Turtle Creek Station, currently under construction in Sarpy County. These units feature fast start-up capability and operational flexibility due to being dual-fuel capable for enhanced reliability. They are expected to be online by 2030. The district expects to have nearly 700 MW of additional power generation capacity available by the end of this year, with Platteview Solar (81 MW), Turtle Creek's original turbines (450 MW), and Standing Bear Lake Station (150 MW) all on track for completion. OPPD Vice President of Systems Transformation Brad Underwood said that doesn't include other projects and potential projects in the works.

TWO SOCIAL ESTABLISHMENTS in Murray get unanimous nods of approval for liquor licenses from the Murray Village Board of Trustees – Public hearings were conducted prior to the board votes. Going forward to the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission:

-Class C Liquor License Application by Murray Homestead Café Inc., dba Vida, 105 N Park Avenue.

CHILDRENS CAMP OPPORTUNITIES from Bess Streeter Aldrich House and Museum in Elmwood – The museum's foundation is once again offering a writing camp for children, grades 4 to 6. Registration is open for the camp that is on Monday, June 10 to June 13, from 12:30 to 3:30. The cost for camp supplies and snacks is $40. Camp options expand this year with an art camp. Students who are currently in grades 2 to 6 are invited to participate from July 8 -11. Younger children are encouraged to enroll in the morning session from 9 to 11:30 and older students, 1 to 3:30. It's $50 for supplies and snacks. Students who enroll in both writing and art camp can register for $80 (a $10 discount).
